20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The AAC was formed to assist the Commission in obtaining information, advice and recommendations from agricultural producers, processors, storage providers, lenders and others interested in or affected by the agricultural derivatives markets. To this end, the AAC serves as a channel of communication between the Commission and the many agricultural and agriculture-related organizations. The AAC continues to fulfill its mission by 1) assisting the Commission in its efforts to assess the effects of its existing and new regulations on the derivatives markets for agricultural commodities, futures, and swaps markets and on the agricultural sector as a whole; 2) advising the Commission on matters related to the fulfillment of its statutory mandate to regulate the derivatives markets, generally, and agricultural markets, in particular; and 3) soliciting input from a broad cross-section of the agricultural sector whose knowledge and experience qualify them to provide support to items 1 and 2.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The AAC charter includes a membership balance plan designed to elicit the broadest possible spectrum of viewpoints on issues relating to agricultural markets. Its members include representatives from: 1) agricultural producers and/or direct and indirect users/consumers of agricultural products, including general farm organizations, national commodity groups, and processing and marketing groups; 2) providers of agricultural credit; 3) other major market participants, including derivatives intermediaries, buy-side representatives, and exchanges; 4) regulators or representatives from other relevant government agencies, including representatives from the United States Department of Agriculture; and 5) academia or public interest groups.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Commission's goal is for the AAC to meet at least annually although the frequency of meetings may be adjusted depending on Commission priorities, budgetary considerations, and the availability of a sponsor. The Commission continues to rely upon and benefit from the advice and recommendations of the AAC's members.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

As the exclusive regulator of agricultural derivatives markets, the Commission has determined that it is necessary to obtain advice on issues directly impacting those affected by the regulation of these markets, as well as indirectly affected by the market's price discovery function. The AAC provides a forum to facilitate interaction with and communications between the Commission and the diverse agricultural and agriculture-related organizations represented on the AAC. The Commission has found that the most efficient and thorough means of obtaining such advice and facilitating such communications is through the current AAC framework, since, among other things, it would be difficult to assemble such a geographically diverse cross-section of persons that represent such a wide variety of agricultural organizations. Moreover, the AAC is the most cost effective way to access input and information, particularly since the Commission does not compensate members and does not provide for members' travel expenses and accommodations for meetings.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

N/A

Narrative Description

The Commodity Exchange Act confers exclusive jurisdiction to the CFTC to regulate derivatives markets, which includes agricultural derivatives markets. The CFTC's mission is to foster open, competitive, and financially sound markets and to protect market users and the public. The AAC supports this mission by providing feedback to the Commission on how its regulatory oversight impacts agricultural producers, storage providers, processors, lenders, and others interested in or affected by the agricultural commodity, futures, and swaps markets. The CFTC's strategic plan has five goals: 1) Strengthening Market Resilience and Integrity while Promoting Vibrancy; 2) Regulate Markets to Promote the Interests of all Americans; 3) Encourage Innovation and Enhance the Regulatory Experience Domestically and Abroad; 4) Be Tough on those who Break the Rules; 5) Focus on the Unique Mission and Improve Operational Effectiveness. Input to the Commission from the AAC supports all five of the CFTC's strategic plan goals.
