20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

At the current time, the PECSEA has no members and is not accomplishing its purpose because it is awaiting the appointment of new members to the re-established committee.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The PECSEA is composed of members who are senior executives selected from industry and other non-governmental organizations, drawn from among members of the PEC and other representatives of industry and other non-governmental organizations who are exporters of or otherwise engaged in activities related to items that are presently controlled under the Export Administration Regulations or are proposed for such control, balanced to the extent possible among large and small firms. Since the work of the PECSEA affects a broad range of export controls, BIS considers it important that the PECSEA assure perspectives reflecting the breadth of the Committee's responsibility, including through diverse membership.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

Meeting two to three times per year, the Subcommittee provides the Government with direct input from representatives of the broad range of industries that are directly affected by export controls. The PECSEA was re-established on 1/29/2024.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The PECSEA is a high-level industry forum that provides advice and make recommendations to the Department on protecting U.S. national security and foreign policy concerns through the administration of export controls without unduly harming U.S. technology leadership and commercial trade, while also strengthening the U.S. defense industrial base. The functions of the PECSEA cannot be performed by the Department nor by any existing advisory committee or Federal agency. The PECSEA provides industry a voice at the highest levels of Government on export control issues, and it provides the Government with high-level, strategic expertise from within a broad range of industry perspectives that otherwise would be unavailable on a consistent and reliable basis.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Closed sessions are held to allow for discussion of business confidential information, to allow for full candor among participants around issues that may be business sensitive and/or information classified for national defense or foreign policy reasons.

21. Remarks

None.

Narrative Description

The President's Export Council Subcommittee on Export Administration serves as a resource of ever increasing value as it addresses matters pertinent to the Export Control Reform Act of 2018, the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, and other relevant laws and regulations administered by the Bureau of Industry and Security. The Subcommittee can readily respond to the needs of the Department of Commerce within a dynamic global marketplace for an industry perspective on the effectiveness of current export control policy and make recommendations on protecting U.S. national security and foreign policy concerns through the administration of export controls without unduly harming U.S. technology leadership and commercial trade, while also strengthening the U.S. industrial base.
