20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Data Users Advisory Committee (DUAC) functions as an advisory body to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) of the U.S. Department of Labor. The Committee provides advice on technical matters related to the analysis and use of the Bureau's statistics from the points of view of data users from various sectors of the U.S. economy, including the labor, business, research, academic and government communities. It gives particular attention to data dissemination and product innovations. The specific topics examined are selected by the agency in consultation with the Committee chairperson. The Committee provides advice in response to presentations from agency staff regarding current issues being addressed by the agency. Typically, the DUAC provides this advice during meetings.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Committee members are persons with demonstrated professional and personal qualifications, whose experience as BLS data users cover the major program areas of the Bureau: employment, unemployment, wages, working conditions, prices, and productivity.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

Typically, the DUAC meets twice yearly, in the spring and the fall, to discuss technical issues related to the analysis and use of BLS data. The topics addressed during the meetings are selected by senior BLS staff in consultation with the committee chairperson. The substantial involvement of senior agency executives in the formulation of meeting agendas is evidence of the relevance of the meetings.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The DUAC is needed to provide advice on the statistical analysis and use of BLS data from a customer perspective. BLS data must satisfy a number of criteria, including consistently high statistical quality, accuracy, relevance to current social and economic issues, timeliness in reflecting today's rapidly changing economic conditions, and impartiality in subject matter and presentation. BLS products must ultimately be judged by their usefulness to the end user community. The DUAC is a significant source of advice on BLS priorities from a broad range of data users, such as suggestions concerning the addition of new programs, changes in the emphasis of existing programs or cessation of obsolete programs, and advice on innovations in data dissemination and presentation.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Narrative Description

The Data User Advisory Committee supports the mission and strategic plan of the Bureau of Labor Statistics by providing advice on the statistical analysis and use of BLS data from a customer perspective. BLS data must satisfy a number of criteria, including consistently high statistical quality, accuracy, relevance to current social and economic issues, timeliness in reflecting today's rapidly changing economic conditions, and impartiality in subject matter and presentation. BLS products must ultimately be judged by their usefulness to the end user community. The DUAC membership represents a balance of expertise across the broad range of BLS program areas including employment and unemployment statistics, occupational safety and health statistics, compensation measures, price indexes, and productivity measures.
