20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The Council is required by the Act to provide advice to the Secretary of Agriculture on accomplishing efficiently the purposes of the Act of October 10, 1962 (16 U.S.C. 582a, et seq.), commonly known as the McIntire-Stennis Act of 1962. The Council also provides advice related to the Forest Service research program, authorized by the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Research Act of 1978 (Pub. L. No. 95-307, 92 Stat. 353, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 1600 (note)). The Council will report to the Secretary of Agriculture on regional and national planning and coordination of forestry research within the Federal and State agencies concerned with developing and utilizing the nation's forest resources, forestry schools, and the forest industries. The Council shall also advise the Secretary of Agriculture on the apportionment of funds for the McIntire-Stennis Program.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The Council is comprised of 20 voting members appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture and drawn from state and federal government organizations, academic institutions (forestry schools), volunteer and non-governmental organizations, and forest industries.

Representation from these organizations will ensure a wide variety of viewpoints on issues and priorities related to forestry research and natural resource research and management matters across the United States. To ensure that the recommendations of the Committee have taken into account the needs of the diverse groups served by USDA, membership includes to the extent possible, individuals with demonstrated ability to represent minorities, women and persons with disabilities.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Council shall meet annually but may meet as often as is necessary to complete its business.

The timing of the meetings is crucial to providing timely advice to the Secretary of Agriculture, particularly as related to budget. Meetings with such a diverse group of members are relevant in providing perspectives that permeate a broad range of forestry research priorities and coordinate USDA work with the forestry research programs in academic institutions, industry, and other federal and state agencies.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Council is the only entity which is authorized by law to provide the Secretary of Agriculture with recommendations and advice on forestry research. The increases in worldwide demand for wood, biofuel and fiber, coupled with increasing national and global concerns for the health of forest ecosystems, and increased numbers and magnitude of fires, is causing unprecedented conflicts over allocation, use, and management of the nation's forests.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

All Council meetings are open to the public and are advertised at least 15 days in advance in the Federal Register.

21. Remarks

The committee did not conduct a formal meeting in FY23.

Narrative Description

The Council's 2017 Report to the Secretary of Agriculture included recommendations Enhance USDA extramural and university research capacities in forestry. (1) The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) should utilize its higher education competitive grant programs to provide graduate student fellowships in forest science disciplines with critical shortages. (2) Funding for the McIntire-Stennis program be increased to $50 million per year to train a diverse cadre of scientists that will respond to expanding threats to the nation's forests. (3) Amending the McIntire-Stennis legislation to include the 1994 land grant colleges should be a priority for the next Farm Bill. Expand Forest Service (USFS) Research and Development (R&D) capacity and funding: (4) Work with Congress to adopt alternative wildfire funding mechanisms and end the use of the ten-year rolling average to drive fire budgeting and end fire borrowing. (5) Restore USFS contributions to Joint Fire Science Program and return the JFSP line item to Wildfire Management. (6) Increase USFS R&D budget to no less than 10% of the total agency's budget by FY2020, to meet urgent needs, e.g., climate change, ecological integrity, insects and disease through expanded research capacity. (7) Invest in social science research beyond rural sociology and economics to better understand how forests address human needs and values. (8) Continue research on forest products and technology that enhances energy efficiency, carbon sequestration, and community and rural vitality. (9) Move quickly to fill the many open R&D executive and national program lead positions. This was the last report that was submitted the the Secretary. The charter was re-established in FY2022 and members were selected and appointed in FY2023. We are preparing for an in-person meeting with the Committee in early FY2024.
