21. Remarks

Title I of Public Law 102-419 (October 16, 1992), established the Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park as a unit of the National Park System. Title II of that law established the Dayton Aviation Heritage Commission. The Commission was established to assist Federal, State, and local authorities and the private sector in preserving and managing the historic resources in the Miami Valley, Ohio, associated with the Wright brothers, aviation, or Paul Laurence Dunbar. The powers given the Dayton Commission extend beyond those usually associated with an advisory commission and place it in the category of an operating commission. Public Law 102-419 also limited the range of individuals who could be appointed to serve as members. The limitation was cited in a statement by the President at the time the legislation was signed. The statement concluded that, because of the limitation, the Commission could perform only advisory functions and not exercise Government power. Consequently, the commission was initially chartered to carry out only the advisory responsibilities of the law, thereby making the committee subject to the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. Subsequently, on November 12, 1996, Public Law 104-333 (Division I, section 811) amended the procedures for appointing members to the Commission. Accordingly, the Commission was rechartered, authorizing the undertaking of the full complement of responsibilities authorized by Public Law

102-419. As an operational committee, the Dayton Aviation Heritage Commission, is not subject to the Federal Advisory Committee Act, and should be removed from the reporting process.
